There are numerous approaches that could be used to improve or avoid the purification process. One possibility is the use of additional processes that lead to the highest possible degrees of monomer conversion, which could be achieved by conducting three-dimensional polymerization followed by subsequent post-polymerization curing (e.g. by thermal treatment or irradiation of the resulting ...

Biomedical applications. PCL is degraded by hydrolysis of its ester linkages in physiological conditions (such as in the human body) and has therefore received a great deal of attention for use as an implantable biomaterial. In particular it is especially interesting for the preparation of long term implantable devices, owing to its degradation which is even slower than that of polylactide.

MRI IS NMR RENAMED. Upon the advance of NMR (nuclear magnetic resonance) technology into its medical applications, as a result of Dr. Damadian's DISCOVERIES, the medical community preferred the elimination of the word nuclear to avoid its radioactive connotations (that were non-existent) and the radiologic community sought to have the I added to denote NMR scanning as an imaging technology.
